

Leaders and Movements - Around us it is seething with leaders and organisations. That is fine. As long as it is for our people and out of the people. The trouble is that the leaders of today and their movements are trying to push their intentions onto the people. That is the reason for the lack of success. Our primary purpose must be to gather our people around two very distinctive principles namely Freedom on our own territory. As long as diversion exist around this, we cannot be a united people.
